

"ON TO MANILA"

No incidents of American history have attracted more attention in the Hawaiian Islands than the campaign in Manila and arrival of the first American troops to cross the Pacific at Honolulu.

No more magnificent reception was ever given any body of troops than Honolulu accorded the boys in blue of the first expedition that went "On to Manila." Many boys in the ranks were friends and relatives of Hawaiian citizens and many of Hawaii's boys joined the troops at this port.

The departure of these men from San Francisco, their reception in Honolulu and the principal incidents of their campaigning in the Philippines are recounted in an interesting style and with historical accuracy by Douglas White, war correspondent for the Examiner Journal, in his book "On to Manila" that is now placed at the disposal of BULLETIN subscribers.

"On to Manila" is a book of historical value and with its beautiful binding and excellent illustrations is the best souvenir of war in the Philippines that has yet been published. Mr. White writes of incidents in which he was an active participant.

He shared mess with the boys and had the correspondent's entire to the official headquarters. He was in the fighting front with the army and the navy.

The illustrations are from photographs taken on the field and pen sketches by Pierre N. Boreliger, war artist with the Philippine expeditionary forces.

This book can be obtained for 25 cents and one coupon at the BULLETIN office. The edition is a limited one and will be handled in Hawaii exclusively by the EVENING BULLETIN.

KALIHI STABBING AFFAIR

Kui Strikes at the Heart of Arthur Kuulei McCalgan.

Assault Ran Away But Was Given Up By Father Later—Victim in Very Critical Condition.

This morning's paper had the identities of the two young Hawaiians who got into a fight in the Kapalama street car stables last evening slightly jumbled so that the one wounded is credited with cutting himself. The story as told by Deputy Marshal Chillingworth is follows:

"It was between 9 and 10 o'clock last night that Robert Hobron, Jr. and Halemanu two of the crowd of hoodlums in the habit of hanging about the street car stables, got into a row. Hobron went to get some stones to throw at his antagonist. Max Ordenstein, a young boy, cried out to someone to hold Hobron, when Arthur Kuulei McCalgan called the little fellow a coward and told him to hold Hobron himself. Kui, another boy, thereupon challenged McCalgan to fight. The two went at each other and Kui was knocked senseless.

"He remained on the ground for about a minute and then started to rise. Just as he did so Sai, a Japanese, cried out that Kui had a knife. The warning was too late. Kui had made a spring and buried the blade of a sharp jackknife in the left breast of McCalgan just above the heart, inflicting a wound about an inch and a half long. Another cut was made at the base of the thumb on the left hand, severing all the tendons. The wounded boy stepped back and went toward the stables. In a short time he fell exhausted and was taken to the hospital soon after.

"Kui seeing what he had done, walked away. On being met later by Ordenstein he asked after McCalgan, saying he would commit suicide if he was dead. "I set out after Kui but could not find him. I told the father to bring his boy to the police station if he returned home. At about midnight the father arrived with Kui, having found him at the house of a friend in Kapaukolo. McCalgan is in a very critical condition but may pull through. There was a great loss of blood. It is to be hoped that the cutting affray of last night will result in the breaking up of the gang of hoodlums that has so long been the source of annoyance to Kapalama residents.

TO RELEASE A GALICIAN

Rabbi M. S. Levy Espones Cause of Contract Laborer.

Secures Money Required to Obtain the Man's Freedom—Cost About $126—Would See Them All Out.

Rev. M. S. Levy has been instrumental in securing the release from Oahu prison of Jacob Teper one of the Galicians imprisoned for refusing to work out his contract on Oahu plantation.

Rabbi Levy in speaking of the matter this morning said: "I learned from Rev. Mr. Tubbs that one of our people was among the men imprisoned for refusing to work out their contracts. I obtained through Mr. Doyle a letter to the prison warden by whom I was very courteously received.

"After satisfying myself that the young man was honest in his representations, I visited Mr. Hackfeld, the Austrian Consul, and stated that I desired to secure the release of one of the subjects of the nation which he represents. Mr. Hackfeld conferred with the plantation officials and found that the plantation would be satisfied with the payment of $126 which was the amount due to the plantation for advance passage money. I have obtained the money from different members of the Jewish residents and it is ready to pay over to the proper parties when the man is released.

"The young man's story is that he is a cabinet maker by trade. He came to Hawaii under contract supposing that on arrival he would work at his trade. He has a mother to support and I suggested that he return to the plantation, but he asserted he would stay in prison for life rather than go back.

"I believe he will make a good citizen. He is willing to work, can speak two languages and is rapidly acquiring the English language and will unquestionably make his way in the world when given the freedom of action when every citizen of our republic should enjoy. I only wish that I could secure the release of everyone of those Galicians."

CRUELTY TO A YOUNG GIRL

Chinese in Aala Accused of Binding Feet of Child.

Police After Violators of Assault and Battery Law—Complaint Laid in at Police Station This Afternoon.

A story of cruelty to a child comes from the region of Aala. For the past fortnight or so residents of the vicinity and others have heard at various times during the day and night the cries of some child evidently suffering from intense pain. The cries have come from the house of a Chinaman and, although people have been anxious to find the cause of these no one ventured near the place until yesterday.

Two or three people approached the house from a place in back and succeeded in getting very close to where the cries came from. Reaching the high board fence they peered through the cracks and saw a poor little Chinese girl being held in a chair by one person while another was bandaging her feet as tight as his strength would allow. The poor child was writhing in pain but those who were doing the work paid no attention whatever to her discomfort.

The matter was reported at the police station today and this afternoon the police are making an investigation. Should the guilty parties be ferreted out they will be prosecuted on the charge of assault and battery. It will be remembered that the footbinding law passed by the Legislature was declared unconstitutional upon a test case being presented. There again there is no law against cruelty to children. All such cases come under the head of assault and battery in Hawaiian law.

It is very seldom that a case of footbinding is in Honolulu discovered as the Chinese concerned in this heathenish practice are usually very careful to keep the cries of the children from reaching the outside air.

BODY IN KAWAIAHAO.

The body of the late Queen Dowager arrived at Kawaiahao Church shortly before 2 o'clock this morning, having left Pualani at a little after midnight. There were some fifty men following the hearse, while others, among whom were a number of ladies, followed in carriages. Kuulei torches and kshills accompanied the remains.

The body upon arrival at the church was carried by six pallbearers between two lines of Co. G, stationed on the steps and commanded by Captain Wilcox. At the entrance to the church Rev. V. H. Kitcat and members of the clergy met the body and conducted it to the bier in front of the pulpit where everything for its reception had been arranged.

Soft music came from the organ played by Wray Taylor, a prayer was said and then the people outside flocked in. Today no one is allowed to enter the church but those assigned to the duty of watching over the dead. Beginning tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock the body will lie in state until midnight Saturday.

A PERMANENT ORGANIZATION

Splendid Attendance of Attorneys at Bar Association Meeting.

Paul Neumann Elected President and S. M. Ballou Vice-President—Constitution Amended and Adopted—Resolution Withdrawn.

Permanent organization was effected at the meeting of the Bar Association in the Supreme Court chambers yesterday afternoon. The following attorneys were present: Messrs. Dole (Deputy Attorney General), Neumann, Aebi, Enoch Johnson, Kaulukou, Correa, Andrews, Carter, Castle, Weaver, Smith, Weber, Robertson, Monarrat, Davidson, Hankey, Humphreys, De Bolt, Gear, Davis, Wood, Peterson, Chillingworth, Mead, Parke, Cathcart, Kane, Berry, Brown (Marshal), Stewart, Wilder, McLanahan, Wright, Silliman, Vivas, Kinney, Hatch, Ballou, Holmes, Cooper (Attorney General), Prasser (Deputy Sheriff of Kauai), Cayless, Brown and Henshall. Besides these were a dozen or more lookers on and a half dozen newspaper men.

Judge Davidson was repeatedly called to take the chair and finally arose, declining to do this and stating that he had understood the Bar Association for the elevation of the profession and for the elimination of all things vicious and wrong. The introduction of a resolution at the last meeting had turned the association into a political organization. He had never been a politician and had never voted in his life. He had no wish for an alliance with a partisan organization and would decline to serve. Paul Neumann was immediately elected temporary chairman.

The constitution was read by attorney McLanahan and, after undergoing several amendments, was finally adopted as a whole. An annual and regularly quarterly as well as special meetings are provided for. The chairman was empowered to appoint a committee of three to draft by laws.

The election of officers resulted in the appointment of the following by acclamation: Paul Neumann, president; S. M. Ballou, vice president; A. A. Wilder, secretary and S. K. Kane, treasurer.

When unfinished business came before the house Attorney Gear arose and withdrew the resolution made at the last meeting and dealing with the life tenure of the present judges of the Supreme and Circuit Courts, stating that he did this because the constitution provided that nothing of a political nature should enter into the life of the association. While he did not believe the resolutions to be of a political nature he would withdraw them to prevent any further discussion or discussion. By a unanimous vote permission was given Mr. Gear to withdraw the resolution.
